MANSLAUGHTER VERDICT VOTED AGAINST WRIGHT

Two Ballots Required By Jury To Reach Decision In Girl's Death

PRISON TERM IS FACED

22 Witnesses Called For First Criminal Case Since 1939

Two ballots were required by the Pickaway County Common Pleas court jury Friday afternoon to convict Andrew Mack Wright, 34, of 630 Taylor Street, Dayton, of second degree manslaughter charges in the death of Miss Catherine Stapleton of Circleville. Miss Stapleton was fatally injured last fall when the car of Millard Campbell, in which she was riding, collided with Wright's automobile east of Circleville on Route 56. Mr. Campbell died also of his injuries, another manslaughter charge pending against the Dayton man.

The jury returned its verdict two hours after it started deliberations. The initial ballot resulted in a vote of 11 to 1 for conviction, and the second brought the 12 to 0 ballot. A. C. Skinner of Darby Township was foreman of the jury.

Wright posted a $1,000 bond pending a motion for a new trial. Second degree manslaughter carries a penalty of one to 20 years in prison.

Twenty-two witnesses were called before the jury in the three day trial that started Monday, 12 being summoned by the state and 10 by the defendant.

Photographs of marks made by tires on Wright's car were decisive in the action.

The court case was the first criminal trial conducted in Pickaway County since the fall of 1939, but an extremely heavy docket of pending cases hints that much criminal action will be conducted during the remainder of the spring.

FRANCE QUITS LEAGUE

VICHY, France, April 19—Resignation of France from the League of Nations was announced officially in Vichy today.

Four Bands Offer Fine Memorial Hall Program

Four high school bands, including more than 200 young musicians, participated in the Central Ohio High School Band Association's annual festival Friday night at Memorial Hall. Guest conductor was Professor Manley Whitcomb, Ohio State University instructor of symphonic bands.

After a brief parade through downtown Circleville Friday afternoon, the four bands, Circleville, Upper Arlington, Lancaster and Mount Vernon, marched to Memorial Hall for rehearsal.

The program Friday night opened at eight o'clock before a crowd which festival officials described as "good."

The four bands in mass played the following numbers: "God Bless America," "March of the Brave," "Overture, Eroica," "Billboard March," "España Waltz," "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers," "The New Moon Overture," "Rival Overture," "On the Mall March" and the "Star Spangled Banner."

Circleville high school musicians, Delbert Puckett, Robert Kline and Jack Goldsberry, presented an excellent trumpet trio "Trumpeters Three" by Johnson. Other musical features of the program included a trumpet solo, "First Concerto, Allegro Movement" by Joan DeLong of Upper Arlington high school; "Pizzicato Polka" by a Mt. Vernon brass quartet including Paul Pryor, Dick Stull, Charles Gard, and Don Taylor; and "Novelette" by Lancaster's saxophone quartet including Paul Smith, Bob Snider, David Echols and Paul Barnes.

Members of the Central Ohio Band Association, including Circleville, will meet at Upper Arlington Sunday, April 27 for their second 1941 concert. The concert will be held at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and will include the same program as was presented at Memorial Hall.

The two festivals in 1942 will be held in Mt. Vernon and Lancaster.

HANK GREENBERG

MAY 7 FIXED AS LIKELY DATE FOR ACE'S INDUCTION

DETROIT, April 19—Four fit for military service by a medical advisory board, big Hank Greenberg, Detroit Tiger left fielder and the American League's most valuable player in 1940, will probably be inducted into the army for a year's training on May 7, it appeared today.

Although Hank's draft board said merely that he would be called in the "regular course," it was known for some time that Hank's name has been near the top of his board list for almost a week. The board's next induction is set for May 7.

Greenberg was examined yesterday and was told after yesterday's game against the Cleveland Indians that his board, after studying the findings of the physicians, had let him in the class 1A in which he had previously been tentatively placed.

The big slugger said he had no

Texas Solon Says Business Leaders Could Assist In Defense Drive

$1-A-YEAR JOBS FLAYED

Many Asked To Take Vital Posts Have Refused, Says Congressman

WASHINGTON, April 19—Congress will soon be asked for legislation to register and draft business executives for government service, sponsors of the move disclosed today.

Rep. Lyndon Johnson (D) Tex., a member of the House Military Affairs Committee, said he would introduce such a bill, probably next week.

"I find lots of sentiment in congress for it, and I think after proper discussion it will pass," he predicted.

The Texan declared the measure "will cut out this dollar-a-year stuff and make up deficiencies in managerial ability."

As the proposed legislation is now worked out, it would require business men more than 35 years old—those who are not registered under the draft—to sign up. The government would then select those with "peculiar managerial or executive ability."

To Aid Management

These men, with "reasonable compensation"—not the $21 a month paid draftees—would be called on to take over some of the management work of the defense program.

Johnson said he was undecided whether to introduce the measure as separate legislation or as an amendment to the bill for compulsory "cooling off" periods before strikes, which is expected to come to a house vote late next week.

"In any event, I—and others—feel the legislation is needed," Johnson declared. "We have asked a lot of people to come to Washington to do this work and they haven't come. One of our biggest troubles is that many of our executives haven't much more experience than clerks."

"With this bill, we could cut out this ridiculous dollar-a-year program and pay men a reasonable, full time salary. How would you like to have a dollar-a-year general, managing your troops on Mondays, Wednesday and Fridays, and going back to his business on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays?"

WOMEN TO HAVE IMPORTANT JOB ON AIR SCHEME

MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y., April 19—The United States is depending on its women to play a major part in the new air defense scheme which is being established. In the opinion of Lieut. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, commander of the general air force, today women—"lot of women"—could be used in the nation-wide air defense scheme.

He said that women have been found to be of value in such places as plotting rooms, where the course of invading bombers would be traced on maps from reports flashed by a half a million "spotters" now being assembled. In addition, he said, women could be used as clerks, chauffeurs and observers.

EX-DEPUTY FACES TERM

NEWARK, April 19—Denied a new trial, Wayne L. Smith, former sheriff's deputy of Licking County, was sentenced to one to 10 years in prison on charges of embezzling $3,900 from the sheriff's office. Smith asserted that the office safe was never locked and that anyone could have taken the money.

Charred Body of Ohio Music Teacher Found In Furnace of Church

AKRON, April 19—A 58-year-old janitor of the North Hill Methodist Church today confessed stuffing the body of pretty Ruth Zwicker, 24, Akron music teacher, into the furnace of the church basement after she resisted his advances, police said. Miss Zwicker had been missing for a week.

AKRON, April 19—A 58-year-old man was held on suspicion today after charred human remains, identified through dental work as those of the missing 24-year-old Ruth Zwicker, were found in the furnace of the North Hill Methodist Church.

The girl's father, A. W. Zwicker, who identified the remains, had reported his daughter missing since she had gone to the church last Saturday to practice for the Easter musical program. He had feared her a victim of amnesia.

The suspect, whose name was withheld, told authorities that the girl had been fatally injured in a fall that morning, and when he had discovered her body, he had stuffed it into the furnace in an attempt to keep from becoming involved in the death, according to Inspector Vernon Cross.

Cross had suspected foul play when he found no trace of the girl since she arrived at the church. Her car was found parked a few steps away.

The girl, a graduate of the Eastern School of Music at Rochester, N. Y., was a substitute music teacher in Akron schools.

VILLAGE WOMAN 5,000 ON HAND FOUND HANGING AS SCREEN STAR TAKES HUSBAND

Miss Elizabeth Reid, 50, Ashville, was found dead in her home Saturday before noon.

Dr. L. C. Schiff, Ashville, who was called, said the body was hanging from a gas pipe which ran across the ceiling of the living room. Miss Reid died of a broken neck, the doctor said, and announced she had been dead a couple of hours before she was found.

Despondency over ill health was believed to have prompted the act. Deputy Sheriff Robert Armstrong and Justice of Peace B. T. Hedges were conducting an investigation of the death Saturday afternoon.

Miss Reid lived alone and is believed to have no relatives in the community.

MOTHER HIRES SOUND TRUCK TO HUNT SON

IPSWICH, Mass., April 19—A distraught mother today hired a sound truck in an attempt to locate her son, Corporal Charles Grinnell of the 180th Field Artillery at Camp Edwards who has been missing since Monday.

Mrs. Frank Grinnell, socially prominent mother of the missing soldier, rode through the countryside near Ipswich in a sound truck, pleading: "Please come home, Charles, everything will be all right."

State and local police have co-operated in a search for the missing soldier since his automobile and uniform were found near the Grinnell summer home. Army officials were of the opinion he was an amnesia victim, or had met with foul play.

OHIO GOVERNOR TO SELECT NEW ADJUTANT SOON

COLUMBUS, April 18—Appointment by Governor Bricker of an adjutant general to fill the vacancy created by the death of the late Gilson D. Light is expected to be one of the first orders of business at the executive offices next week following final enactment of the State Guard bill by the Senate.

The bill, creating a home guard establishment of from 1000 to 4800 officers and men, was passed by the Senate some time ago, but it was almost entirely re-written by the House military affairs committee before it was brought out for passage by that body yesterday by a vote of 105 to 4.

In view of the administration's anxiety to get organization machinery for the new guard in motion, it was considered probable that the Senate would get the measure for concurrence in the numerous amendments early next week.

Several names have been mentioned to the governor for the adjutant general's post, it was reported, but the executive has given no indication of his choice. It is known that he seeks a man for the job who will be willing to relinquish it that it may be thrown open to National Guard officers when the guardsmen return home from federal service and the new state militia is disbanded.

FIVE SEEKING POSITION HELD BY HARRY SHEETS

PORTSMOUTH, April 19—Five members of Portsmouth's police department will take the civil service examination for chief of police to fill the office of Harry S. Sheets, who will retire April 30. Sheets is now recovering from injuries suffered in a recent automobile accident, with Assistant Chief Hugh Rudity in charge of the department.

Cyclist's Arm Injured In Accident In Alley

Kenneth Sowers, 14-year-old son of Kenneth Sowers, 218 East Corwin Street, is a patient in Berger Hospital, suffering from a deep laceration of the upper right arm after being knocked off his bicycle Friday afternoon at the alley intersection in the rear of the New American Hotel.

The youth was struck by a Columbus soft drink truck driven by Ray Staples, 28, of 686 Pleasant Ridge, Columbus. The truck had been parked on Court Street, but was ordered off the main thoroughfare when high school bands began parading through the business district.

The truck was moving east in the alley, and the bicycle was going south, Patrolman Alva Shasteen, who investigated, said.

Young Sowers was taken to the hospital by R. W. Peters, 128 Mingo Street, who witnessed the accident.

ROMANIA AGAIN HELD IN THROES OF DISSEN SION

BUDAPEST, April 19—Romania's internal political situation once more has become critical, according to reports received in Budapest today.

Premier Gen. Ion Antonescu, who a few months ago won out over a bloody Iron Guardist uprising, issued a manifesto announcing that a new terrorist plot against his regime has been brought to light.

The manifesto threatened "merciless extermination of all plotters, including those of the highest social standing."

Romanian police were reported carrying out mass arrests throughout Romania.

It was believed in Budapest that the Germans are rapidly losing confidence in Antonescu, especially since Romanian newspapers in Bucharest have openly criticized the axis decisions reached at Vienna last September.

RALPH HURLEY LEAVES FOR SERVICE IN PANAMA

Ralph H. Hurley, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hurley of Williamsport, has informed his parents that the ship on which he is stationed left Friday for Panama Canal waters, where Hurley expects to remain for the next 22 months.

He is a member of the U. S. Navy. Young Hurley's brother, Emerson, is located in Pine Camp, N. Y., having been transferred from Fort Knox, Ky. The latter youth is a lieutenant in the motorized division.

King George II of Greece took charge of his nation today as military advices to Athens from the battle front told of sensational new victories over attacking Nazi legions.

An official German announcement, however, claimed that Nazi forces had captured the strategic eastern Greek city of Larissa, an important railway center about 30 miles south of Mt. Olympus.

It was also claimed that the Germans had seized the southern passages leading from Mt. Olympus to the plain of Thessaly.

German detachments were stated to have suffered terrific casualties in bitter hand-to-hand combat and all Nazi attacks were said to have been repulsed.

Berlin claimed its campaign on the Greek front was advancing according to plan and with "undiminished force" and a German radio broadcast picked up by both CBS and NBC in New York said Nazi forces had just planted the swastika on Mt. Olympus.

Stuka dive-bombers were pounding retreating Anglo-Greek troops, a Berlin announcement said.

BRITISH REPORT AXIS DRIVE INTO EGYPT BLASTED

CAIRO, April 19—Italo-German forces, battering at the gates of British defenses at beleaguered Tobruk and on the Sollum front where they were raked with shell-fire from British naval guns offshore, sustained terrific losses, it was officially announced today.

Bitter hand-to-hand fighting accounted for a great number of the axis casualties both around Tobruk and Sollum while gunfire inflicted other heavy losses, it was said.

While informed quarters maintained that the back of the axis drive toward Suez already had been virtually broken on the Egyptian border, the British middle east command announced that five Italian and German officers and 72 more men were captured in addition to the 800 taken on Thursday.

Hundreds of tons of shells are being thrown into the axis lines around Sollum by British warships rushing to the aid of land forces. Two days of this bombardment, it was said, destroyed long columns of axis transport and also took a heavy toll of troop concentrations.

MANSLAUGHTER VERDICT VOTED AGAINST WRIGHT

Two Ballots Required By Jury To Reach Decision In Girl's Death

PRISON TERM IS FACED

22 Witnesses Called For First Criminal Case Since 1939

Two ballots were required by the Pickaway County Common Pleas court jury Friday afternoon to convict Andrew Mack Wright, 34, of 630 Taylor Street, Dayton, of second degree manslaughter charges in the death of Miss Catherine Stapleton of Circleville. Miss Stapleton was fatally injured last fall when the car of Millard Campbell, in which she was riding, collided with Wright's automobile east of Circleville on Route 56. Mr. Campbell died also of his injuries, another manslaughter charge pending against the Dayton man.

The jury returned its verdict two hours after it started deliberations. The initial ballot resulted in a vote of 11 to 1 for conviction, and the second brought the 12 to 0 ballot. A. C. Skinner of Darby Township was foreman of the jury.

Wright posted a $1,000 bond pending a motion for a new trial. Second degree manslaughter carries a penalty of one to 20 years in prison.

Twenty-two witnesses were called before the jury in the three day trial that started Monday, 12 being summoned by the state and 10 by the defendant.

Photographs of marks made by tires on Wright's car were decisive in the action.

The court case was the first criminal trial conducted in Pickaway County since the fall of 1939, but an extremely heavy docket of pending cases hints that much criminal action will be conducted during the remainder of the spring.

Charred Body of Ohio Music Teacher Found In Furnace of Church

AKRON, April 19—A 58-year-old janitor of the North Hill Methodist Church today confessed stuffing the body of pretty Ruth Zwicker, 24, Akron music teacher, into the furnace of the church basement after she resisted his advances, police said. Miss Zwicker had been missing for a week.

AKRON, April 19—A 58-year-old man was held on suspicion today after charred human remains, identified through dental work as those of the missing 24-year-old Ruth Zwicker, were found in the furnace of the North Hill Methodist Church.

The girl's father, A. W. Zwicker, who identified the remains, had reported his daughter missing since she had gone to the church last Saturday to practice for the Easter musical program. He had feared her a victim of amnesia.

The suspect, whose name was withheld, told authorities that the girl had been fatally injured in a fall that morning, and when he had discovered her body, he had stuffed it into the furnace in an attempt to keep from becoming involved in the death, according to Inspector Vernon Cross.

Cross had suspected foul play when he found no trace of the girl since she arrived at the church. Her car was found parked a few steps away.

The girl, a graduate of the Eastern School of Music at Rochester, N. Y., was a substitute music teacher in Akron schools.

ROMANIA AGAIN HELD IN THROES OF DISSENSION

BUDAPEST, April 19—Romania's internal political situation once more has become critical, according to reports received in Budapest today.

Premier Gen. Ion Antonescu, who a few months ago won out over a bloody Iron Guardist uprising, issued a manifesto announcing that a new terrorist plot against his regime has been brought to light.

The manifesto threatened "merciless extermination of all plotters, including those of the highest social standing."

Romanian police were reported carrying out mass arrests throughout Romania.

It was believed in Budapest that the Germans are rapidly losing confidence in Antonescu, especially since Romanian newspapers in Bucharest have openly criticized the axis decisions reached at Vienna last September.

RALPH HURLEY LEAVES FOR SERVICE IN PANAMA

Ralph H. Hurley, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hurley of Williamsport, has informed his parents that the ship on which he is stationed left Friday for Panama Canal waters, where Hurley expects to remain for the next 22 months.

He is a member of the U. S. Navy. Young Hurley's brother, Emerson, is located in Pine Camp, N. Y., having been transferred from Fort Knox, Ky. The latter youth is a lieutenant in the motorized division.

ATHENS SEES NEW HOPE

Hitler In Balkans Ready To Celebrate His 52nd Birthday

By International News Service
King George II of Greece took charge of his nation today as military advances to Athens from the battle front told of sensational new victories over attacking Nazi legions.

An official German announcement, however, claimed that Nazi forces had captured the strategic eastern Greek city of Larissa, an important railway center about 30 miles south of Mt. Olympus.

It was also claimed that the Germans had seized the southern passages leading from Mt. Olympus to the plain of Thessaly.

German detachments were stated to have suffered terrific casualties in bitter hand-to-hand combat and all Nazi attacks were said to have been repulsed.

Berlin claimed its campaign on the Greek front was advancing according to plan and with "undiminished force" and a German radio broadcast picked up by both CBS and NBC in New York said Nazi forces had just planted the swastika on Mt. Olympus.

Stuka dive-bombers were pounding retreating Anglo-Greek troops, a Berlin announcement said.

Athens claimed that the British and Greek troops along their shortened and reinforced front were holding back the Nazi Panzer divisions and that Fascist forces in Albania had been repulsed by Greek counter-attacks near the seaport of Chimara.

In the Greek capital King George entrusted Constantin Codzias, governor of Athens, with formation of a new Greek government following the death of Premier Alexander Koriatis, who passed away three months after the death of his predecessor, Gen. John Metaxas.

King To Preside

Codzias will hold the post of vice premier, it was announced, while King George will preside personally at all cabinet meetings.

Latest dispatches reaching Athens claimed the military situation had improved for the Greeks and British along the entire front.

Berlin, however, reported the German infantry and Panzer legions were pounding ceaselessly at the Anglo-Greek defenses after (Continued on Page Eight)

BRITISH REPORT AXIS DRIVE INTO EGYPT BLASTED

CAIRO, April 19—Italo-German forces, battering at the gates of British defenses at beleaguered Tobruk and on the Sollum front where they were raked with shell-fire from British naval guns offshore, sustained terrific losses, it was officially announced today.

Bitter hand-to-hand fighting accounted for a great number of the axis casualties both around Tobruk and Sollum while gunfire inflicted other heavy losses, it was said. While informed quarters maintained that the back of the axis drive toward Suez already had been virtually broken on the Egyptian border, the British middle east command announced that five Italian and German officers and 72 more men were captured in addition to the 800 taken on Thursday.

Hundreds of tons of shells are being thrown into the axis lines around Sollum by British warships rushing to the aid of land forces. Two days of this bombardment, it was said, destroyed long columns of axis transport and also took a heavy toll of troop concentrations.

TRUBEY FAVORED FOR POST LEFT BY TREVOR REES

CLEVELAND, April 19—Interviews for six candidates seeking the highly-prized football coaching job at Shaw High School in suburban East Cleveland began today for applicants considered the favorites out of a field of more than 100 who sought the position.

Dwight W. Trubey, coach at Fostoria High School since 1936, was one of the six but Dr. O. J. Korb, superintendent of schools, declined to reveal the other five.

The Shaw job, vacated by Trevor Rees who resigned to join the Ohio State staff under Paul Brown, is one of the best in the state.

Shaw, under Rees, became one of the ranking scholastic grid powers in Cleveland. With a magnificent athletic plant and stadium the school had done remarkably well financially. The material usually is top-flight, three Shaw products going among the most promising sophomores at Ohio State this year.

Trubey's record is said to be one of the best among the six being interviewed. His Fostoria teams won 33, lost 13 and tied three. He is a native of Dover.

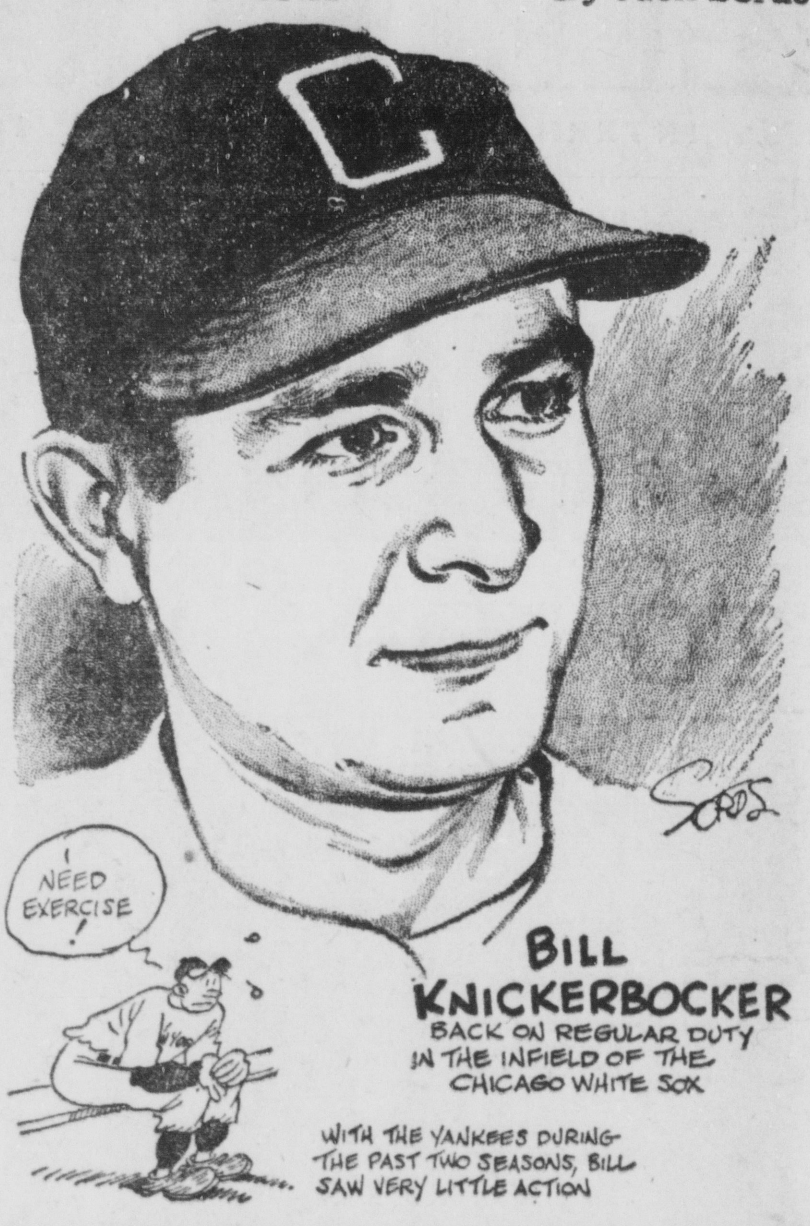

BUCKS TO MEET PURDUE NINE IN SECOND AFFRAY

COLUMBUS, April 19—Already boasting of a 3-2 victory over Purdue, Ohio State University's baseball team today was slated for the second in a two-game series with the Boilermakers at the Ohio Stadium diamond.

In the opening Western Conference game for both teams, the Bucks scored a single run in the 11th frame of yesterday's game to clinch an uphill battle which saw them tie the game in the last of the ninth.

STAR TRACK MEN REST OF APRIL OF UNIVERSITIES FINDS BASEBALL MEET IN KANSAS OUTFITS ACTIVE

LAWRENCE, Kans., April 19—Many of the country's leading legs and lungs were on hand today for the principal events of the 19th annual Kansas Relays this afternoon.

Five Big Ten schools—Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota, Northwestern and Wisconsin—and five from the Big Six conference were among the 18 universities, 26 colleges and nine junior colleges represented. Indiana and Texas were favored to carry off the lion's share of honors.

One of the features of the relays was expected to be the University Spring Medley, in which the Texas team—Capt. Morris Barefield, Bill Seay, Fred Ramsdell, and Mac Umstadt—set a record of 3:24 at the Texas relays two weeks ago. Indiana is expected to provide the chief competition.

In the special mile run, two of the greatest Big Six middle distance runners were matched with the two Big Ten masters. They were Mel Trutt, former Indiana star; Ralph Schwartzkopf, Michigan's Big Ten two-mile king; Ray Harris, of Kansas University; and John Munski, former ace and twice national collegiate champion.

FELLER TO TAKE GROCERS SCORE HILL IN SECOND RIFLE VICTORY EFFORT TO WIN OVER PURINAS

DETROIT, April 19—Bob Feller took the mound for the Indians today against the Detroit Tigers, determined to prove his opening day set-back by Chicago was all a mistake. Furthermore, it provided the Tribe ace with his first chance of the year to get a measure of revenge for the two victories the Bengals scored over him in the final week of the 1940 season.

Feller was opposed by Johnny Gorsica, young right-hander, as the two teams met in the second game of their series, with the Tigers one up as a result of their 4-2 victory yesterday.

Two Detroit homers by Charley Gehring and Birdie Tebbetts, and failure of the Indians to hit in the clutch, spoiled what otherwise might have been a sparkling debut for Jim Bagby Jr. Gehring connected in the sixth and Tebbetts in the seventh.

With the bases full and none out in the ninth, Relief Pitcher Al Benton came to Tommy Bridges' rescue and retired the side with only a single run being scored by the Tribe.

RECORD HOLDER TO SEEK MONEY IN ABC CONTEST

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 19—The Birks Trophy Beer team from Chicago, holder of the all-time record for American Bowling Congress tournament scoring, was to see action today on the heels of four well-rated teams which failed to change the top standings.

The Allhof Brothers team of St. Louis and three New York teams last night failed to beat 3,000 or to place among the first five. The St. Louis outfit had the best score, 2,944, while Deluxe Recreation, Brunswick Red Crowns, and Lou Marcus, all New York teams, scored 2,927, 2,847 and 2,809 respectively.

RED BIRDS WIN ON CIRCUIT HIT

Outfielder Marshall Puts Ball Out Of Lot With Two Mates Aboard

COLUMBUS, April 19—Columbus, Indianapolis and Louisville continued to have things their own way today in the American Association as they won their second tilts.

The Columbus Red Birds, billed as the class of the circuit, showed their expected explosive power when Max Marshall, new right fielder who already is the idol of the bleacherites, clouted a seventh-homer with two men aboard to break a 6-all tie and give the Flock their 9 to 6 victory. Wissman, who allowed St. Paul 11 bingles but kept them well scattered, got credit for the victory.

The Indians eked out a 2 to 1 victory over Milwaukee after overcoming a one-run handicap. In a de luxe hurlers' battle, in which the Brewers outbait the Indians five to four, the losers scored in the third, but the Hoosiers came back with single tallies in the seventh and eighth to win. Fletcher was the winning hurler.

Louisville piled up a four-run lead in the first two cantos and coasted to a 4 to 2 win over Kansas City. Toledo, winner of its first tilt, dropped yesterday's game to their jinx opponent, Minneapolis, 5 to 3 in a ten-inning battle. The Millers got 15 bingles from Johnny Marcum, but the veteran kept them well scattered until the tenth. Toledo got only six bingles from Dutch Haefner, the winning hurler.

BOSTON OUTFIT TO BE SOLD TO EASTERN GROUP

BOSTON, April 19—Reports the Boston Bees are to be sold to a syndicate, which includes a tri-umvirate of Boston contractors and a Brooklyn, N. Y., manufacturer, gained credence today with disclosure that Ford Frick, National League president, was to visit the Hub.

According to the report, the syndicate would be made up of Max Meyer, Brooklyn, N. Y., manufacturer, who was at yesterday's Bees-Dodgers game; Guido Rugo, Milton, C. Joseph Maney, Somerville, and Louis Perini, Framingham, all contractors; Manager Casey Stengel, and Player-Coach Johnny Cooney.

It was indicated President Bob Quinn would be retained as head of the club.

Although it was announced Frick was coming to Boston only to see today's games between the Dodgers and Bees, it was expected he intended to supervise the transfer of Bee stock, owned by C. F. Adams, to the syndicate.

THREE OF DERBY POSSIBILITIES TO RECEIVE TEST

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 19—Between now and nightfall at least three hefty thoroughbreds will make or break their chances of a big following in the Kentucky Derby here May 3.

In the day's best race, Porter's Cap, winner of the $50,000 Santa Anita Derby, will try to capture the $15,000 Chesapeake Stakes at Havre De Grace. If he does he can come to Churchill Downs for the $75,000 added classic with head high and chances good. If he falls there are some other promising 3-year-olds, in Kentucky and New York State, ready to pounce on the favored spot he will miss.

At Keeneland, Blue Pair will battle it out with four other non-derby subscribers for $2,500 in the Ben All handicap.

The only other derby candidate opposing Porter's Cap is Little Beans, owned by R. Palladina, who rocketed into the derby picture this season but slipped to the rear in a recent eastern performance.

Blue Pair, who recently ran second to Whirlaway at Keeneland, will travel under the colors of Mrs. Thomas Bragg, of Slickaway Farm, Lexington. She purchased the horse from C. C. Van Meter, at a reported $50,000.

Champion Reds Last To Annex Tilt In Majors

Cincinnati Drops Fourth In Row When Buck Walters Tosses Home Run Balls To Van Robays And Vince DiMaggio

NEW YORK, April 19—What odds do you suppose a rookie would have given on the proposition that the world champion Reds would be the last team to win a game in the Major Leagues? Or that they would drop their first four games and that their big siege guns—Derringer, Vander Meer, Thompson and Walters—would all lose their first starts?

And yet today you will note that all those incredible things have happened.

Walters was 4-1 victim of the astonishing Pirates yesterday simply because he threw a couple of gopher balls. Van Robays clouted the first one and Vince DiMaggio, oldest of the three famous ball playing brothers in the majors—clouted the other with two aboard and that was the ball game.

Incidentally, who said Frankie Frisch had no pitchers? Two days ago Truett Sewell turned in a two-hitter for him and yesterday Max Butcher held the Reds to five.

Meanwhile, the Giants were grabbing their fourth straight decision by knocking off the Phils behind the steady pitching of Bob Bowman and the grand hitting of Mel Ott who walloped his first homer of the year with three aboard. The score was 7-2.

Bees Boot Six

The Dodgers finally broke their losing streak by knocking off the Bees, 11-6, and old Casey Stengel must have lost a few more hairs he can hardly spare as he watched his minions kick in with six errors.

And the Cardinals suffered their first defeat, 6-4, at the hands of old Charley Root of the Cubs who is 41 years young.

That reminds us that two other 40-year-olds—Ted Lyons of the White Sox and Lefty Grove of the Red Sox—also gave two corking performances in their seasonal debuts.

Won By Hash

Ted had little trouble taming the hard-hitting Browns, 7-2, and Lefty gave the Athletics only two hits in seven innings, although the 3-2 decision was credited to Herb Hash after Lefty was removed for a pinch-hitter.

The Red Sox won this just as they did their previous games by staging ninth inning rallies. Bobby Doerr hit a homer in the seventh and then, after Manager Joe Cronin doubled in the ninth, Doerr hit another to win the ball game.

The Tigers made but six hits off Bagby and the Indians made the same number off Bridges, but homers by Tigers Gehring and Tettebets outweighed one by Keltner and so the Tigers won, 4-2.

The Yanks again fell victim to a lefthander when Ken Chase held them to eight hits while the supposedly weak-hitting Senators were massaging Russo, Chandler and Donald for 17 and an easy 7-4 verdict.

A motion picture with sound music on "The Life of Christ" from the Nativity to the Ascension will be presented at the First Methodist Church next Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights, April 25, 26, and 27 at 7:30 p. m.

The picture, based on and patterned after the Oberammergau and Freiburg "Passion Plays" was actually filmed in Europe, the Holy Land and Egypt, and will have a complete showing each night.

A silver offering will be taken. The picture is being presented by the Epworth League of the Church.

Church Briefs

Laurelville-Adelphi Epworth Leaguers held a sunrise service Easter morning at the old Adelphi cemetery. Included in the service were readings by Charlotte Grattidge and George Willson and a message by the pastor, the Rev. R. L. Klausmeier. Four girls sang a quartette number and Harriett Peele led the group singing. Dickie Durbin began the service by playing "taps" on his trumpet. The service was conducted by Marilyn Jo Armstrong, president of the league.

"After Easter, What?" will be the sermon topic of the Rev. Neil Peterson at the First Methodist Church Sunday morning. Special music includes "Sanctus" by Franz Schubert, "Awake, My Heart with Gladness" by Crueger and "Whatever God Ordains Is Good" by G. Gastorius.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Acts 2:1-4:31

After the Holy Ghost had descended upon the apostles, they began to speak in different languages, whereat some said, "Are not all these that speak Galileans?" and some said that they were drunk.

Peter explained that the Spirit of God was upon them, as it was written, "and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions, and your old men shall dream dreams."

Peter and John went to the temple to pray, and a man lame from birth asked alms of them; but they told him they had no gold or silver, but they healed him of his lameness in the name of Jesus of Nazareth.

The priests, captains of the temple and Sadducees arrested Peter and John, but seeing the lame man healed, they dared not harm them, so threatened them about preaching and let them go. (GOLDEN TEXT—Acts 4:31)

The day of Pentecost. They were all filled with the Holy Spirit, and they spoke the word of God with boldness.—Acts 4:31.

First Presbyterian Will Install New Officials

First Presbyterian Church officers, elected at a recent congregational meeting, will be ordained and installed during the worship service at the church Sunday morning.

Turney Glick will be ordained and installed as elder of the church and Franklin Crites as deacon. Donald Watt, Melvin Kiger and Homer Quillen will be installed as deacons.

New trustees to be publicly recognized include Earl Lutz and Dr. E. S. Shane. They will be installed together with George Foreman, who was reelected for the coming term.

During the worship service the new members will be received into membership of the church. The Rev. Robert T. Kelsey, pastor, will speak on "The Heroism of Self-effacement," and Mrs. Clark Will will sing a soprano solo, "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go," by Oley Speaks. The organ prelude will be the andante from "First Symphony" by Beethoven, the offertory meditation will be "Minuet in G" by Beethoven, and the organ postlude "Symphonic Postlude" by Beethoven. Miss Abbe Mills Clarke, organist, will play an all Beethoven group during the service.

For a Pretty Kitchen

Here's another kitchen we think is the prettiest we have worked in yet—An inlaid floor, tan ground with black, green and deep rose middle, dark red cove base with black line—The sink top is dark red, the chrome edge inset with black, also little three-cornered shelves along side of the windows in red and chrome edge—The hardware in the cupboard is also chrome and red.

We can give you many good suggestions if you will come in.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Acts 2:1-4:31.

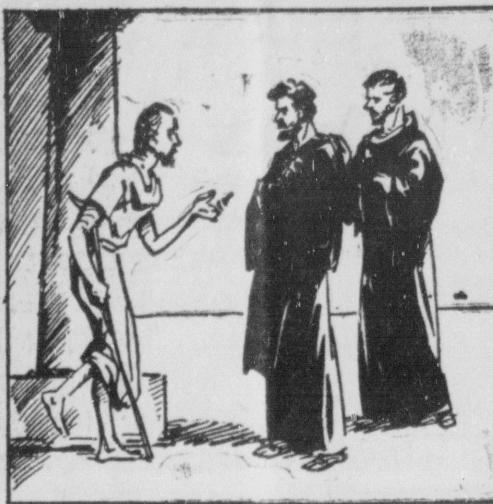

By Alfred J. Buescher

After the Holy Ghost had descended upon the apostles, they began to speak in different languages, whereat some said, "Are not all these that speak Galileans?" and some said that they were drunk.

Peter explained that the Spirit of God was upon them, as it was written, "and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions, and your old men shall dream dreams."

Peter and John went to the temple to pray, and a man lame from birth asked alms of them; but they told him they had no gold or silver, but they healed him of his lameness in the name of Jesus of Nazareth.

The priests, captains of the temple and Sadducees arrested Peter and John, but seeing the lame man healed, they dared not harm them, so threatened them about preaching and let them go. (GOLDEN TEXT—Acts 4:31)

The day of Pentecost
"They were all filled with the Holy Spirit, and they spake the word of God with boldness."—Acts 4:31.

First Presbyterian Will Install New Officials

First Presbyterian Church officers, elected at a recent congregational meeting, will be ordained and installed during the worship service at the church Sunday morning.

Turney Glick will be ordained and installed as elder of the church and Franklin Crites as deacon. Donald Watt, Melvin Kiger and Homer Quillen will be installed as deacons.

New trustees to be publicly recognized include Earl Lutz and Dr. E. S. Shane. They will be installed together with George Foresman, who was reelected for the coming term.

During the worship service the new members will be received into membership of the church. The Rev. Robert T. Kelsey, pastor, will speak on "The Heroism of Self-effacement," and Mrs. Clark Will will sing a soprano solo, "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go," by Oley Speaks. The organ prelude will be the andante from "First Symphony" by Beethoven, the offertory meditation will be "Minuet in G" by Beethoven, and the organ postlude "Symphonic Postlude" by Beethoven. Miss Abbe Mills Clarke, organist, will play an all Beethoven group during the service.

JUMPY PRICES

WHEN wages and salaries go up, naturally prices go up to meet them. Business concerns, large or small, usually find it necessary to raise rates somewhat to meet the higher costs.

Then the consumers who have to pay the higher prices insist that they must have more pay in order to meet the rising costs of what they buy. And so an upward spiral of wages and prices is started, which may go far if not controlled. That is the way things went in the last war.

Many kinds of injustice and danger result. It may be all right for people whose incomes rise with the cost of living, but the many whose incomes are stationary or slow in rising find themselves growing poorer. Their incomes will buy less of the things they need.

Creditors are cheated by being paid back in cheaper money.

The greatest danger is inflation—prices rising feverishly until there are no stable values.

Fortunately the government has more control in this field than it had in the last war, so that there is less danger and less fear, of serious inflation. But this is an evil that has to be watched, lest it sneak up on the national business and money system unexpectedly.

TWO STEPS TO ENGLAND

THERE'S more than one way to skin a cat. Take that conveying business. We don't want to convey cargoes of war materials and food to England, because we'd get into trouble with German warships, pronto. But as has been suggested by some Washington correspondents, probably "inspired", that Greenland business shows a way.

It's a by-product of the Greenland coup. Or possibly the main idea behind that move. We have a right to send freighters, accompanied by our warships on patrol duty, in our own waters, as far as the lower tip of Greenland. That is, to a point just this side of the arbitrary blockade line drawn by Germany east of Greenland. It would be about half way to England. There British cruisers would take over and shepherd the ships to Britain.

That last leg of the trip, not much more than 1,000 miles, would be vastly shorter than the route formerly suggested, around Africa to the Red Sea. And there could be no technical objection. We would play safe, and Britain's convoy job would be far simpler than anything heretofore suggested.

Maybe that is why the President has seemed more cheerful lately, in spite of British reverses.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE ... Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Up to another morning and feeling quite fit. Worked up an appetite for breakfast by digging a few back-yard dandelions. Did recall George Foreman appearing at Rotary with one of the flowers in his button-hole and wondering just why. Never have had any love for the things at all myself. Returned to the house for coffee and then headed for the post.

Met Dan McClain, the gas man, and Scoot Roof, of horse fame, both in abundant health and made quite happy by the weather. Stopped for a chat with Dr. A. W. Holman, of Urbana, once of the village. Frank Barnhill passed on the other side of the street. "Frank and I were both hillcats," said the doctor. "I delivered his first baby. Jim Shea, the Legion commander, also was among the babies I brought into the world in the early days of my practice. Quite pleasant to return here and greet old friends."

Father Connor dropped into the office for a chat and we agreed on a stream fishing trip one afternoon before the weather gets too hot. Really a fine man, the father. Magnolia in bloom all over the village. Learned that the tree in Mrs. Stevenson's yard, one of the finest in these parts, is 91 years old. Think of providing nothing but pleasure for a period as long as that.

Someone's pet dog has been hanging around the Given oil station for several days. A collar, tag and all. A nice little animal that someone believes lost, but is not lost at all. Just don't know how to get home. So, someone call for it.

Heard that mushrooms are springing up. Bish Given said he had a big one in his office and then showed me one, a spongy one bigger than the head of a kitchen match. Of course they have to start somehow, but I never imagined a mushroom that small. And I don't understand how anyone could have found it. However, there it was. Several good finds of large ones have been reported.

Everyone mourns the situation in the Balkans, but not a thing can be done about it. Also everyone around here mourns the sad early season fate of the Cincinnati Reds, and we can't do anything about that either. Well, the Reds will snap out of it one day before long, and the British and Greeks may do likewise. We all hope so, anyway.

DIET AND HEALTH

A Busy Factory

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

● You have, if you are a person of about average size and weight, about half a bucket of blood in your body—a little over five quarts. About two-fifths of this is the red blood cells. They float, pretty widely separated, in the serum, but if packed down they would constitute about two-fifths

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

of the entire volume. The rest of the blood is the plasma, or serum, which is a clear, yellowish fluid.

We discussed the red cells last week. Today I want to call attention to the activities of all the chemicals that are contained in the blood plasma. This carries all the food to the tissues, all the minerals and vitamins. Our knowledge of blood chemistry has become very accurate in the last quarter-century.

Contents of Blood

A chemist estimates that in this half-bucket of blood there is dissolved a teaspoonful of sugar and a tablespoonful of ordinary table salt, and about a tablespoonful of sodium bicarbonate or ordinary baking soda. There are about six 5-grain capsules of nitrogenous products in the blood, and about 1/100 of a grain of iodine. There is from a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful of fat.

These substances are all in a state of flux and it is, indeed, a very busy chemical factory. These substances are, of course, all derived from the food. After digestion they are carried to the liver—most of them—and there changed into forms which the cells can utilize. Some part of them is stored in the liver and the rest released in the blood stream.

The teaspoonful of sugar which is contained in your half bucket of blood is there for quick energy. It is like gasoline in the carburetor. When a muscle contracts, no matter how little, a certain amount of this energy chemical is used up, unites with oxygen, literally burns, and releases energy by a minute and inaudible explosion. If you do a good stint of hard, muscular work, the teaspoonful of sugar in your blood is quickly used up and the body calls upon the reserves of sugar which are stored in the liver—as it would the gasoline in the tank.

The person with diabetes, instead of having one teaspoonful has about two teaspoonfuls of sugar in his blood and he can't get rid of it in the muscles because the sparkler is not working.

A similar outline could be made for the way all the other chemical constituents of the blood are used but some of the processes are quite technical and difficult to explain.

The body is, however, a very busy factory, indeed, and, of course, it creates heat, which is the temperature of your body. There are no strikes, and no walk-outs, and no picketing, and no collective bargaining among the workers of the body, for if any of them stop for any length of time, there wouldn't be any body, there wouldn't be any factory and nobody would get paid anything.

Maybe there is a lesson in this.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

R. H.:—"The employees of the St. Louis, Missouri, post office wish to organize a blood donor's group, the purpose being to maintain a record of the blood type of each member so that donors may be obtained quickly in the event of an emergency. In reply to our inquiries as to whether blood types of individuals are subject to change, we have received contradictory answers. We are writing to ask you whether you will be kind enough to tell us: (1) Whether the blood-types of individuals change with time. (2) If so, do such changes occur at approximately regular intervals, so that it would be advisable to have re-checks at one-year, two-year, or three-year periods, or whatever the time interval would be? (3) Is it probable that the list of typings would remain relatively accurate?"

Answer—Blood types do not change. I believe this has been definitely settled all over the world.

S. M. S.:—"Please tell me the effect of popcorn on the system. We find it very tasty after meals and wonder if it may have some harmful effect."

Answer—No, it is a very good form of cathartic and also has considerable nourishment.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

TOM AND BETSY FORMAN inherit Halcyon Island from invalid Jordan Markham, who was found shot to death. Markham had established the spot as a "honeymoon island," but his ideas had been opposed bitterly by crooked business associates who wanted to make it a base for smuggling aliens into the United States.

NATALIE SCHUTLER, moneyed society girl, and BROOKS MARCHBANKS, possessor of high social position, but not much money, are married. Starting on their honeymoon, they find a wrecked car in which are an injured boy and girl. Discovering that they are without funds, Natalie sees to it that the newly-married couple.

CORALIE AND JOHN SIMPSON, are provided for. Coralie says that they were bound for Halcyon Island to spend their honeymoon. Natalie and Brooks change places with Coralie and John and decide to go to the honeymoon island.

Natalie and Brooks find that among their companions on the island will be Donald Heath, a newspaperman, and his wife, Heath tells Brooks that his face seems familiar.

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

"HOW LONG does one wait for the Halcyon boat?" asked Natalie. "It seems there's another couple going over and their train doesn't come in until 11. It's that now, so I imagine they'll be here soon," answered June Heath, making room for Natalie and Brooks on the bench.

"They talked the polite, meaningless conversation courtesy demands between people who are strangers and who are not yet sure that they want to be anything else. Brooks found himself liking Donald Heath. It wasn't going to be half bad to spend 30 days on an island where there would be at least one man he could enjoy talking with."

The four of them looked up at last when a taxi stopped at the pier and a man and a woman came toward them, escorted by the porter.

"New England schoolma'am," said Natalie under her breath. "Don't tell me people like that go on honeymoons."

"Don't be a snob, darling," said Brooks, and Natalie felt as though he had slapped her.

The two coming toward them certainly looked strangers to anything so soft as romance. The woman was in her early thirties, the man a few years older. She had the neat, small, almost prim features that go with mouse-colored hair and eyes that are no particular color; her skin was muddy, as though from lack of air and exercise and proper diet. The man was thin, rather gaunt looking, and as he took off his hat the others saw that his rapidly thinning hair had been carefully brushed in the fruitless hope of concealing a bald spot.

"The porter said that you were waiting for the Halcyon Island boat," he said politely. "Therefore, I imagine we are to be at least neighbors there. I'm Orwin Littlefield, and this is Lucy, my wife."

Donald Heath shook his limping hand and performed the introductions. The women eyed each other curiously, with that almost hostile look with which women greet new acquaintances and wait to find out whether or not they are going to be friends. And all were hugely relieved when the motor-launch drove up to the pier and they could climb aboard.

Natalie saw, as they settled down for the run to the island, that Lucy Littlefield, a faint unaccustomed blush staining her hollow cheeks, had slipped her hand in Orwin's and that his hand had closed over it. Why, the poor lambs, she told herself, a little startled, they are in love, too! And added to herself grimly, "What do you mean, too? This is a honeymoon trip, you fool. Everybody's in love—except Brooks, who likes you because you've got money—"

She set her teeth hard against that thought, for it hurt.

The island loomed ahead at last. Bright, impermanent looking, the smudge of dark green rapidly focusing into the thick, low-lying jungle growth, the cottages and the Hacienda standing out clearly in the bright sunshine, like houses children make with blocks, taking on solidity and substantiality as the boat raced in.

A group of people stood on the pier waiting for the boat. Natalie saw a small, cuddly looking blonde girl in the briefest of blue linen shorts, a gaily striped bra pretending to cover the upper part of her body, rope-soled beach shoes on her small feet; a husky young giant of a man in bathing trunks, a terry-cloth robe carelessly flung about his shoulders; a pretty girl with black curls in a shoulder-length bob, wearing a gaily patterned play-suit; and a rather faded blonde who was considerably older and who wore a fussy, frilly morning dress, standing beside a middle-aged man in khaki trousers and a pongee shirt.

"Welcome to Halcyon Island," sang out the cuddly little blonde as the boat grated against the pier and the men bent to hold it steady so that the new guests could alight.

"Stow your chatter, brat," hissed the big young man in the brief trunks. "You're not the hostess here. Give Betsy a break, will you?"

"Okay. Keep your shirt on. I was only trying to be friendly," said the blonde, a trifle dashed.

"You—and a collie pup," said the young man darkly.

Betsy and Tom introduced themselves and then the others. Mrs. Edmonds' eyes went swiftly over the newcomers, dismissed Orwin Littlefield instantly as of no importance whatever, lingered on Donald Heath a trifle speculatively, and then went on to Brooks, brightened, and she moved toward him with an undulating movement that made Betsy and Terry exchange significant grins.

"The woman's definitely a menace," Terry muttered to Betsy in the little hubbub of chatter that burst about them.

"No man could possibly take her seriously," murmured Betsy.

"No? Take a look at Willie. What do you think he's doing—the poor old goat?" hissed Terry.

But Mrs. Edmonds was saying prettily, "Do let me show you your cottage, Mr. Simpson. There's some quaint rule here against servants, and all of us are supposed to do our bit to make things easier for dear little Mrs. Forman—"

She led the way, and since her hand was through Brooks' arm, there was little he could do but go along with her, carrying his suitcase.

"Permit me, my dear," said Major Edmonds gallantly, offering his arm to Natalie, carefully avoiding the eyes of the others, shouldering Natalie's bag, and following in the wake of his wife.

"I hope you got that, my lamb—DEAR little Mrs. Forman—will YOU down her, or shall I? It would be a pleasure!" said Terry firmly.

Bill said sternly, "Listen, angels—do you want a sock in the jaw—or would you rather behave yourself?"

Terry stared at him, affronted. "Well, for Pete's sake," she gasped, outraged. "I was just taking up for Betsy. Betsy's my friend. If a gal can't take up for a pal—"

"A gal could wait and see whether the pal needed help," suggested Betsy gaily. "As a matter of fact, aren't you the one who needs help? Seems to me you're letting the lady get under your skin."

"You need only to look at Mrs. Edmonds and know her fer the mean-killing type—even though a little long in the tooth, wouldn't you say?" suggested Donald cheerfully, sorting his and June's bags from the Littlefields'.

Lucy and Orwin looked at each other swiftly, almost as though appalled. And Betsy, reading the look, said quickly, "I'm sorry. I'm afraid we're all rather unforgivable. None of us meant anything unkind. Mrs. Edmonds is—well, she's really pathetic, and we mustn't let her bother us. I'm sure Terry doesn't mean more than half he says."

"You're being conservative. She doesn't mean a tenth of it," said Bill sternly.

Terry caught the tone in his voice and blinked like a startled child. She made a husky, shaken apology. Don't mind me—anybody. I talk too much anyway. It's only that I just don't like the clinging vine type."

GENERALLY favorable and fortunate state of affairs may be read from the ruling lunar and mutual aspects. And while there may be activity and excitement, with much commotion in the private as well as business relations, yet there is likely to develop certain strange, curious or intriguing situations which it will take some sound reasoning and good judgment to safely negotiate. There may be sudden and surprising openings, coming from secret or unpredictable sources, calling for swift insight and direct action, in order to reap benefits and personal gratification. Be alert but decisive.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of much good fortune and personal gratification, with progress, pleasure and probably social or sentimental felicity, although these may be attended by peculiar, intriguing or mystifying factors — to be dealt with with much rationalizing, keen understanding and quick action. Practical tactics and common sense in obscure situations may avert pitfalls and delusions. Keep balanced and sane in strange adventures.

A child born on this day may be clever, steady and practical while having an inner nature or vision out of the usual or commonplace. It will be genial, kindly and romantic as well as artistic.

For Sunday, April 20

SUNDAY'S horoscope is not a particularly promising one, since it holds portent of sudden and disrupting visitations difficult to analyze or forecast. Something in the nature of an upheaval, spading-up or precipitate or violent action may materialize. This may make unexpected inroads on the finances, call for unusual outlay of funds or perhaps involve litigation. Shun conflict and any sort of excess.

Those whose birthday it is should be prepared for a year of sudden and unpredictable events, with turbulence, disruption and upheaval affecting the emotional as well as business life. It may involve litigation, financial loss or other disagreeable and aggravating forms, but in all maintain balance good judgment.

A child born on this day may be erratic, indulgent, temperamental, prone to extravagance and indulgences which may mean loss and sorrow. It should have early discipline by discerning parents.

JUMPY PRICES

WHEN wages and salaries go up, naturally prices go up to meet them. Business concerns, large or small, usually find it necessary to raise rates somewhat to meet the higher costs.

Then the consumers who have to pay the higher prices insist that they must have more pay in order to meet the rising costs of what they buy. And so an upward spiral of wages and prices is started, which may go far if not controlled. That is the way things went in the last war.

Many kinds of injustice and danger result. It may be all right for people whose incomes rise with the cost of living, but the many whose incomes are stationary or slow in rising find themselves growing poorer. Their incomes will buy less of the things they need.

Creditors are cheated by being paid back in cheaper money.

The greatest danger is inflation—prices rising feverishly until there are no stable values.

Fortunately the government has more control in this field than it had in the last war, so that there is less danger and less fear, of serious inflation. But this is an evil that has to be watched, lest it sneak up on the national business and money system unexpectedly.

TWO STEPS TO ENGLAND

THERE'S more than one way to skin a cat. Take that conveying business. We don't want to convey cargoes of war materials and food to England, because we'd get into trouble with German warships, pronto. But as has been suggested by some Washington correspondents, probably "inspired", that Greenland business shows a way.

It's a by-product of the Greenland coup. Or possibly the main idea behind that move. We have a right to send freighters, accompanied by our warships on patrol duty, in our own waters, as far as the lower tip of Greenland. That is, to a point just this side of the arbitrary blockade line drawn by Germany east of Greenland. It would be about half way to England. There British cruisers would take over and shepherd the ships to Britain.

That last leg of the trip, not much more than 1,000 miles, would be vastly shorter than the route formerly suggested, around Africa to the Red Sea. And there could be no technical objection. We would play safe, and Britain's convoy job would be far simpler than anything heretofore suggested.

Maybe that is why the President has seemed more cheerful lately, in spite of British reverses.

Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

NAVY PRESS CENSORSHIP

WASHINGTON—The War and Navy Departments, both run by Republicans, both having important military secrets to protect, offer a contrast when it comes to censorship of the press.

Ten years ago, the War Department, then under the ebullient Patrick J. Hurley of the Hoover Administration, placed a group of martinets in charge of Army press relations. But today, the Army, under public-minded Henry L. Stimson, has selected one of its crack officers, Major General Robert C. Richardson to handle its press section and has revolutionized its attitude toward newspapermen.

War Department executives even invite criticism. When this column exposed the exorbitant fees paid to real estate operators in buying land for army camps, Under Secretary of War Patterson gave every possible cooperation and thanked the writers for helping correct an evil.

General Marshall, Chief of Staff, adopted the same attitude regarding this column's investigation of inefficiency in the construction of army camps. He said that while the Army made mistakes, they could be more easily avoided in the future if there was frank discussion of the facts.

In contrast was the Navy's attempt to crack down on news sources when this column reported that 30 of the brand new destroyers were so topheavy that they tended to turn turtle if too much fuel oil was taken out of their holds.

PEACETIME CENSORSHIP

Censorship in the Navy is not new. Colonel Frank Knox's argument for news control today is based upon the fact that we are in an emergency with a warring world all around us. But even in times of peace, the Navy has done its best to censor any news reflecting on its own prestige and inefficiency.

For instance, when the late Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg sailed for Paris to sign his famous Outlawry of War Pact, the United States certainly faced no emergency. Yet when one of the Merry-Go-Rounders, accompanying Kellogg on his voyage from Paris to Ireland aboard the cruiser Raleigh, wrote a dispatch kidding the Navy band on losing the music score of the Irish National Anthem, the captain of the Raleigh censored the message. It reflected on the efficiency of the Navy.

A few years later, in 1932, when, except for Manchuria, the world enjoyed comparative peace, the Navy sent a vessel to survey possibilities for a submarine base at Kodiak Bay, Aleutian Islands. The survey was made secretly, on the pretext of studying geological formations for the Coast and Geodetic Survey. When one of these writers discovered the real purpose of the mission, he was requested by the Navy to suppress the news because it would reveal a naval move to Japan.

DIET AND HEALTH

A Busy Factory

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

● You have, if you are a person of about average size and weight, about half a bucket of blood in your body—a little over five quarts. About two-fifths of this are the red blood cells. They float, pretty widely separated, in the serum, but if packed down they would constitute about two-fifths of the entire volume. The rest of the blood is the plasma, or serum, which is a clear, yellowish fluid.

We discussed the red cells last week. Today I want to call attention to the activities of all the chemicals that are contained in the blood plasma. This carries all the food to the tissues, all the minerals and vitamins. Our knowledge of blood chemistry has become very accurate in the last quarter-century.

Contents of Blood

A chemist estimates that in this half-bucket of blood there is dissolved a teaspoonful of sugar and a tablespoonful of ordinary table salt, and about a tablespoonful of sodium bicarbonate or ordinary baking soda. There are about six 5-grain capsules of nitrogenous products in the blood, and about 1/100 of a grain of iodine. There is from a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful of fat.

These substances are all in a state of flux and it is, indeed, a very busy chemical factory. These substances are, of course, all derived from the food. After digestion they are carried to the liver—most of them—and there changed into forms which the cells can utilize. Some part of them is stored in the liver and the rest released in the blood stream.

The teaspoonful of sugar which is contained in your half bucket of blood is there for quick energy. It is like gasoline in the carburetor. When a muscle contracts, no matter how little, a certain amount of this energy chemical is used up, unites with oxygen, literally burns, and releases energy by a minute and inaudible explosion. If you do a good stint of hard, muscular work, the teaspoonful of sugar in your blood is quickly used up and the body calls upon the reserves of sugar which are stored in the liver—as it would the gasoline in the tank.

has about two teaspoonfuls of sugar in his blood and he can't get rid of it in the muscles because the sparkler is not working.

A similar outline could be made for the way all the other chemical constituents of the blood are used but some of the processes are quite technical and difficult to explain.

The body is, however, a very busy factory, indeed, and, of course, it creates heat, which is the temperature of your body. There are no strikes, and no walk-outs, and no picketing, and no collective bargaining among the workers of the body, for if any of them stop for any length of time, there wouldn't be any body, there wouldn't be any factory and nobody would get paid anything.

Maybe there is a lesson in this.

R. H.—"The employees of the St. Louis, Missouri, post office wish to organize a blood donor's group, the purpose being to maintain a record of the blood type of each member so that donors may be obtained quickly in the event of an emergency. In reply to our inquiries as to whether blood types of individuals are subject to change, we have received contradictory answers. We are writing to ask you whether you will be kind enough to tell us: (1) Whether the blood-types of individuals change with time. (2) If so, do such changes occur at approximately regular intervals, so that it would be advisable to have re-checks at one-year, two-year, or three-year periods, or whatever the time interval would be? (3) Is it probable that the list of typings would remain relatively accurate?"

Answer—Blood types do not change. I believe this has been definitely settled all over the world.

S. M. S.—"Please tell me the effect of popcorn on the system. We find it very tasty after meals and wonder if it may have some harmful effect."

Answer—No, it is a very good form of cathartic and also has considerable nourishment.

For Saturday, April 19

GENERALLY favorable and fortunate state of affairs may be read from the ruling lunar and mutual aspects. And while there may be activity and excitement, with much commotion in the private as well as business relations, yet there is likely to develop certain strange, curious or intriguing situations which it will take some sound reasoning and good judgment to safely negotiate. There may be sudden and surprising openings, coming from secret or unpredictable sources, calling for swift insight and direct action, in order to reap benefits and personal gratification. Be alert but decisive.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of much good fortune and personal gratification, with progress, pleasure and probably social or sentimental felicity, although these may be attended by peculiar, intriguing or mystifying factors — to be dealt with with much rationalizing, keen understanding and quick action. Practical tactics and common sense in obscure situations may avert pitfalls and delusions. Keep balanced and sane in strange adventures.

A child born on this day may be clever, steady and practical while having an inner nature or vision out of the usual or commonplace. It will be genial, kindly and romantic as well as artistic.

For Sunday, April 20

SUNDAY'S horoscope is not a particularly promising one, since it holds portent of sudden and disrupting visitations difficult to analyze or forecast. Something in the nature of an upheaval, spading-up or precipitate or violent action may materialize. This may make unexpected inroads on the finances, call for unusual outlay of funds or perhaps involve litigation. Shun conflict and any sort of excess.

Those whose birthday it is should be prepared for a year of sudden and unpredictable events, with turbulence, disruption and upheaval affecting the emotional as well as business life. It may involve litigation, financial loss or other disagreeable and aggravating forms, but in all maintain balance good judgment.

A child born on this day may be erratic, indulgent, temperamental, prone to extravagance and indulgences which may mean loss and sorrow. It should have early discipline by discerning parents.

Contract Bridge
• Played During Evening

Miss Alice Roof of South Pick-way Street was hostess at an evening bridge party, Friday, 16 guests being entertained at the delightful social affair at Mrs.
Marion's party home.

Four tall yellow tapers lighted the table with its centerpiece of lovely spring flowers where lunch was served after the progressive games of contract bridge.

Mrs. Franklin Kibler, Mrs.
Wright Weiler and Mrs. Paul Helwagen carried home the score trophies.

Guests in addition to the prize winners were Mrs. Sterling Lamb,

Bowers, Miss Ruth Stout, Miss Hazel Palm, Miss Elizabeth Tolbert, Miss Virginia Marion of Circleville and Mrs. Daniel Joseph (Gene Rader) of Columbus.

Shower Honors Bride

Spring flowers were used in profusion at the evening party and miscellaneous shower honoring Mrs. Helen Mowery, a bride of March 30, when Mrs. James Mowery entertained 50 guests Friday at her home in Washington Township.

Contests were planned for the entertainment of the guests, Mrs.
George Fischer, Jackson Township, and Miss Virginia Dreishach of Columbus winning prizes.

Yellow and white was the color theme of the beautiful shower arrangement, Mrs. Mowery was presented many useful gifts.

Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the party.

Harper Bible Class

Twenty-one members of the Harper Bible Class of the United Brethren Church enjoyed the cooperative dinner Friday at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. A. N.
Grueser, the regular monthly social meeting of the group following.

Malcolm Russell was in the chair for the business session when plans were discussed for the class to participate in the activities of the Young People's conference, which will be at the church in June.

Plans were made for a steak fry at Roadside Park, Route 23, May 16.

Mrs. L. B. Dancy and Mrs. Russell were named members of a flower and card committee for the class.

The program opened with scripture readings by Charles Kirkpatrick, Robert Vandervort, Mr. and Mrs. Russell, Frank Moats and Ronald Nau. Readings by Mrs. Vandervort, Mrs. James Dancy, Mrs. Nau and Mrs. L. B.
Dancy were enjoyed. Mrs. Ira Valentine, leader, gave a very interesting talk on "The Cross" around which the program had been centered.

Missionary Society

The sixty-sixth annual meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbytery of Columbus will be held Thursday and Friday, April 24 and 25, in the

The business and devotional session was led by Mrs. Emmitt Frazier, president, with the Rev. L. S.
Metzler discussing the principal characters of the first five books of the Old Testament for the scripture lesson.

Miss Mary Clark arranged the program which included two sets of quiz questions, one on the Bible and the other on the United States government.

Refreshments were served during the social hour.

The May meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Lovett of Stoutsville.

Royal Neighbors

Mrs. Oscar Root served as oracle Friday when the Royal Neighbors met in regular session in Modern Woodmen Hall. After the ritualistic work, the group discussed plans for a special social meeting for Friday, April 25.

Mrs. Stanley Peters and Mrs.
Adolphus Pearce, who with Mrs.
William Madden attended the state convention April 15 and 16 in Akron, reported on the activities of the conference.

Magic Sewing Club

The Magic Sewing Club met
Thursday at the home of Mrs.
Gail Wolfe of Pleasant Street.
Mrs. Nobel Barr being honored with gifts on her birthday anniversary. Miss Mary Lavina Brown of East Ringgold and Mrs. Cecil Mancini of Circleville were guests.

Mrs. Gladden Troutman won the prize in an interesting contest.

Bowls of spring flowers centered the small tables where lunch was served at the close of the meeting.

The next meeting, May 1, will be at the home of Mrs. John Grubb, West High Street.

Euchre Club

Miss Mildred Francis and Howard Richardson entertained members of their euchre club Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs.
Max Myers of North Court Street.

Three tables were in play during the evening, the score prizes going to William Hudson and Mr.

Richardson. A salad course was served after the games.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hines, Mr. and Mrs.
Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Clydes Young, Mr. and Mrs. Myers and Mr. and Mrs. George Wharton.

Church of Brethren Aid

The Ladies' Society of the Church of the Brethren met April 17 at the home of Mrs. Mary Holbrook. The service was opened with group singing of hymns and the scripture lesson from Romans
8 read by Mrs. Francis Cupp.

Prayer by Mrs. Grace Mumaw closed the devotions.

Discussion of the lunch to be served at the livestock sale May 1 occupied the group during the business hour. It was decided to invite the men of the church for the next session which will be at the home of Mrs. Laura Smith, York Street.

Mrs. William Lemley, the Rev.
Charles Easick, Adrian Merriman and Marie Starkey comprise the social committee. Mrs. Eunice Sterling and Mrs. Alta White

ART STUDENTS USE DRY PAINT

High school art classes have been working for the last eight weeks with Frescol, a dry paint, doing creative landscapes and still life.

Some boys in the sixth period class are doing outdoor sketching from the bleachers and the front steps. A few of these sketches are on display in the front hall.
Others are making books to get Boy Scout merit badges in book binding.

Girls in the class are either painting still life with water colors or have joined the book binding group.

This class is conducted informally and students will direct their attention to whatever work and medium interests them most for the remainder of the school year. Since the remaining time is so short each student will confine himself to intensive work on his particular interest.

The students feel that they have progressed greatly since school started and Mrs. Downing is very proud of the work they are doing this year.

Sketch club pins arrived this week.

LOCAL STUDENTS WIN TOP PRIZES

In the essay contest recently sponsored by the State Automobile Mutual Insurance Company, Helen Beck won first prize of fifty dollars.

Ruth Fausnaugh won second prize, a girl's bicycle while Margaret Cross and Lloyd Jones won roller skates. These were among the ten additional prizes.

Subject of the essay was "How Can We Make Our Streets and Highways Safer?" Deadline for the essays was April 10. The contest was open to school students of the seventh through twelfth grade of the county.

Today's Garden-Graph

One main secret of prize-winning vegetables is to thoroughly prepare the soil in which they are to grow. All clods should be broken up and all large stones removed. The finer the soil is made, the better the roots can grow.

In England and other parts of Europe double digging is practiced.
This means a lot more work but the results are highly effective.

Trench System For Vegetable Growing

As illustrated in the Garden-Graph, start at one end and open up a trench two feet long at a depth of one spade. Wheel this soil to the other end of the plot.
Use a fork and break up the subsoil in the trench to another spade depth.

If possible, incorporate into it manure, sand, coal ashes or humus, in fact, anything which will help to improve the soil. Turn the next two feet of soil over into this trench, then leaving a second trench open. In this manner the soil is broken up to a depth of two spades but the original layer of soil is kept on the surface.

Stooge Dance To Be Given May 9

CITY WAS SCENE OF BAND PARADE, CONCERT, FRIDAY

Yesterday the bands of Circleville, Lancaster, Mt. Vernon, and Upper Arlington high schools participated in the first of two annual band festivals in Circleville. The four units staged a parade through the business district in the afternoon.

At the end of the parade the four bands assembled in one massed group for the evening concert.
The remainder of the afternoon was spent in rehearsing under the direction of the guest conductor, Manley R. Whitcomb, director of Ohio State University's marching and symphonic bands.

Following is the program presented in the evening by the combined bands:

"God Bless America" — Berlin;
Barch, "March of the Brave" —
Overture, "Eroica" — Shornicks;
Trumpet trio, by Jack Goldsberry, Robert Kline, and Delbert Puckett of Circleville high school.
"Trumpeters Three" — Johnson;
March, "The Billboard" — Klorh; Waltz, "España" — Waltefeul; Trumpet solo by Joan DeLong of Upper Arlington high school.
"First Concerto" — Williams; March, "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers" — Jessel.

Overture, "The New Moon" — Romberg; Brass quartet by Paul Pryor, Dick Stull, Charles Card, and Don Taylor of Mt. Vernon high school, "Pizzicato Polka" — Strauss; Overture, "Rival" — Pettee; Saxophone Quartet by Paul Smith, Robert Snider, David Echols, Paul Barnes of Lancaster high school, "Novallette" — Johnson; March, "On the Mall" — Goldman; "Star Spangled Banner".

It was planned to have the second festival at Upper Arlington next Friday but due to conflicting dates at that school the date will be changed. The date has not been definitely set.

Band Assembly Given Tuesday

In assembly, Tuesday morning, the high school band under the direction of C. F. Zaenglein gave its annual concert before the student body. Mr. Zaenglein believes that the concert furnished excellent practice for the band festival.

The program presented to the pupils is as follows:

"God Bless America" — Berlin;
March, "Billboard" — Klorh; Overture, "Eroica" — Shornicks; baritone solo by Clifford Kerns, "The Message" — Brooks; "Schubert
Serenade" — Schubert; "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers" — Jessel;
"España Waltz" — Waltefeul;
"Slide Trombone" — Filmore; "Connecticut March" — Nassann; "On the Mall" — Goldman.

SOCIETY PLANS BENEFIT SHOW

Next Thursday afternoon at 1:30, the local chapter of Bundles for Britain will sponsor a Clare Tree Major presentation, "Alice in Wonderland." The production will be given in a local theatre with local and county pupils planning on attendance.

Miss Elizabeth Tolbert is in charge of student ticket sales with Mrs. Lemuel Weldon in charge of general admission. The Red and Black staff recognizes the significance of the work done by the local British-aid group and wishes through these columns to urge the attendance not only of school pupils but also of many adults who would be interested in the program.

GIRLS TO HAVE ANNUAL AFFAIRS

Thursday afternoon the Junior Girl Reserves announced the dates for the annual faculty tea and Mother-Daughter banquet.
The dates were April 29 and May 8, respectively.

Club members voted on a menu for the banquet. Menu chosen consists of chicken cutlets, mashed potatoes, green beans,
salad, rolls and orange ice.

A devotional meeting preceded the business discussion and Bette Waters presented a literary program.

MEETING POSTPONED

Because of the band festival and senior play try-outs, Friday afternoon school, there was no Poetry Club meeting.

There will be an important meeting next week, and all members are requested to be present.

EDITORIAL PLAGIARISM

Have you ever walked into your home room and be greeted with these remarks, "Got your history questions written out? Can I see them? Oh, please. I won't let anyone else have them either." Even before you can utter one word, your paper disappears and perhaps will not show up until the time for class to start.

Do you know what copying from some other person is called? Well, I'll tell you. It's plagiarism. Something that just shouldn't exist—but does.

Neither you nor the people who copy from you derive anything from being plagiarists. You are cheating yourself because it's your opinions which are written down and the other person doesn't have a chance to express his own views when he copies.

When our high school days are over and we enter the business world, from whom are we going to copy the answers to the problems which are apt to confront us? No one but we can answer these questions because the other fellow is too busy settling his own difficulties without us barging in to get our answers.

Remember to do your own work always—it really pays in the end.
—Marianne Bosworth

SPRING BRINGS WISTFUL WISHES

In the Spring a young man's fancy turns to "I wonder what my next grade card will look like?"
"S'pose I'll pass?" "How long yet do we have to go to school?"
"Gee, how I'd like to be out there flying my kite or jerkin' my ja-lopy around the countryside."

Well, we have exactly 33 more days of school, as school is out June 5. If you have kept up in your "readin' ritin' n' rithmetick" I'm sure you'll be in the boots of an upper-classman soon. It is "swell" to be refreshed by the clean air as you go "buzzing" along in your "lizzie" with a steaming radiator and amid flying oil, and smoke-screening exhaust.
But you've asked "Will I pass?" and if you wish to, you must stop dreaming and slide into your Napoleon, Caesar or Euclid.

Be reasonable. Just think, we get three months of warm weather to "forget about education."
Isn't that something to work for?
Try it and see!

SENIORS SELECT PLAY FOR MAY

Announcement was made this week that the senior class would present the three act comedy,
"Death Takes a Holiday" by Alberto Casella and rewritten for the American stage by Walter Ferris as their annual class play presentation. The play which has been highly publicized in stage and movie circles has a cast of 13 players.

Samuel R. Johnson, dramatics instructor, has been holding tryouts during the past week and expects to name the cast next week. The presentation is scheduled for May 14 and 15 on Wednesday and Thursday evenings.
Costumes are being arranged by the Sullivan Studio in Columbus and scenery will be made by the Martin Display Service.

"CIRCLE" NEARLY READY

This week the editorial staff of the annual completed all written material for the '41 "Circle," and sent the entire dummy to the printing company.

Other work which remains is mounting the last snapshot page and checking copy on the engraver and the printer, returned for the staff's approval.

END OF SCHOOL NEAR

Many pupils rejoiced this week at the thought of having only six more weeks of school this year.
Friday was the last day in the fifth six weeks grading period and grade cards will be distributed next Wednesday morning. The regular six weeks' honor roll will be featured in next week's Red and Black.

RACKS MADE

During the last several weeks the C. H. S. metal works class has been working to complete a project for the benefit of the band.
The metal class is constructing 34 metal band racks for use by local musicians.

MEMORIAL HALL SCENE OF GALA EVENT OF CLUB

For the past several weeks plans have progressed rapidly for the annual Stooze dance. Joe Staley and his committee have selected an orchestra and have completed all formalities regarding contracts.

Posters which Carl Bach and David Yates made announce the coming of Bill Kessler and his band, featuring Fritz Hummel, formerly with Ted Weems.

Committees appointed by Robert Brown have been functioning steadily and all reports are that things will go off exactly on schedule. Hildeburn Martin is making the decorations, Richard Brintlinger, Robert Goeller, Clark Martin and Jack Beck are helping to put them up.

All tables for this affair were carried and placed by the committee consisting of Harry CHTON, Norman Anderson, David Orr and Joseph Staley.

Elmer Barr is in charge of refreshments. Counters have been erected for this purpose. Clark Martin will take care of the tickets.

Since this is not a public dance, invitations must be issued. This responsibility falls on the shoulders of David Yates, Carl Bach and Richard Brintlinger. After the person has received an invitation, he may either by his ticket (which were distributed to club members by Frank Geib) from a member of the club or buy them at the gates.

Thus far there is no accurate estimate as to the number of people who will attend, however, the club has planned on approximately 150 couples.

All members of the student body and faculty are invited to attend.

G. R. ARRANGES BIRTHDAY PARTY

Senior Girl Reserves made plans at their meeting Thursday for a birthday party in honor of the sixtieth anniversary of Y. W. C. A. The Girl Reserve are a branch of the organization.
April 20-26 is National Girl Reserve week and the party will be in the social room some evening during this time. A number of out-of-town guests will attend this affair.

Committees appointed for this affair are refreshment: Rosemary Huffer (chairman), Miriam Brown and Marylin Campbell.
Program: Jean Imler (chairman),
Dorothy Ann Dreishach and Mary Catherine Stein. Decorations:
Mary Kathryn Pile (chairman), Marcella Cunningham and Mar-vine Henness.

In the absence of Doris Waters, Margaret Boggs presented the program "What The Girl Reserve Means To Me". Several weeks ago club members wrote a paragraph on this topic and the best of these were read before the club.

CLUB WILL PUBLISH NEW SCANDAL SHEET

During a short E.M.S. meeting, Wednesday evening, plans for the publication of the '41 Scandal Sheet were discussed. This piece of work will make its appearance to the high school within the next few weeks.

Editorials were due at this

ART STUDENTS
USE DRY PAINT

High school art classes have been working for the last eight weeks with Fresco, a dry paint, doing creative landscapes and still life.

Some boys in the sixth period class are doing outdoor sketching from the bleachers and the front steps. A few of these sketches are on display in the front hall. Others are making books to get Boy Scout merit badges in book binding.

Girls in the class are either painting still life with water colors or have joined the book binding group.

This class is conducted informally and students will direct their attention to whatever work and medium interests them most for the remainder of the school year. Since the remaining time is so short each student will confine himself to intensive work on his particular interest.

The students feel that they have progressed greatly since school started and Mrs. Downing is very proud of the work they are doing this year.

Sketch club pins arrived this week.

LOCAL STUDENTS
WIN TOP PRIZES

In the essay contest recently sponsored by the State Automobile Mutual Insurance Company, Helen Beck won first prize of fifty dollars.

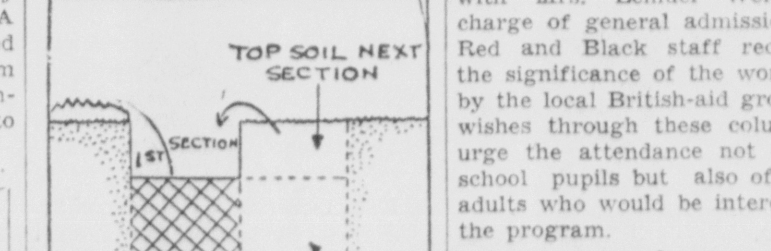

Ruth Fausnaugh won second prize, a girl's bicycle while Margaret Cross and Lloyd Jones won roller skates. These were among the ten additional prizes.

Subject of the essay was "How Can We Make Our Streets and Highways Safer?" Deadline for the essays was April 10. The contest was open to school students of the seventh through twelfth grade of the county.

Today's Garden-Graph

One main secret of prize-winning vegetables is to thoroughly prepare the soil in which they are to grow. All clods should be broken up and all large stones removed. The finer the soil is made, the better the roots can grow.

In England and other parts of Europe double digging is practiced. This means a lot more work but the results are highly effective.

GIRLS TO HAVE ANNUAL AFFAIRS

Thursday afternoon the Junior Girl Reserves announced the dates for the annual faculty tea and Mother-Daughter banquet. The dates were April 29 and May 8, respectively.

Club members voted on a menu for the banquet. Menu chosen consists of chicken cutlets, mashed potatoes, green beans, salad, rolls and orange ice.

A devotional meeting preceded the business discussion and Bette Waters presented a literary program.

There will be an important meeting next week, and all members are requested to be present.

Stooge Dance To Be Given May 9

CITY WAS SCENE OF BAND PARADE, CONCERT, FRIDAY

Yesterday the bands of Circleville, Lancaster, Mt. Vernon, and Upper Arlington high schools participated in the first of two annual band festivals in Circleville. The four units staged a parade through the business district in the afternoon.

At the end of the parade the four bands assembled in one massed group for the evening concert. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in rehearsing under the direction of the guest conductor, Manley R. Whitcomb, director of Ohio State University's marching and symphonic bands.

In the evening the directors of the bands attended a banquet at the American Hotel.

Following is the program presented in the evening by the combined bands:

"God Bless America" — Berlin; Barch, "March of the Brave" — Overture, "Eroica" — Shornicka; Trumpet trio, by Jack Goldsberry, Robert Kline, and Delbert Puckett of Circleville high school, "Trumpeters Three" — Johnson; March, "The Billboard" — Klorh; Waltz, "España" — Waldeufel; Trumpet solo by Joan DeLong of Upper Arlington high school, "First Concerto" — Williams; March, "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers" — Jessel.

Overture, "The New Moon" — Romberg; Brass quartet by Paul Pryor, Dick Stull, Charles Card, and Don Taylor of Mt. Vernon high school, "Pizzicato Polka" — Strauss; Overture, "Rival" — Petee, Saxophone Quartet by Paul Smith, Robert Snider, David Echols, Paul Barnes of Lancaster high school, "Novelette" — Johnson; March, "On the Mall" — Goldman; "Star Spangled Banner".

It was planned to have the second festival at Upper Arlington next Friday but due to conflicting dates at that school the date will be changed. The date has not been definitely set.

SOCIETY PLANS
BENEFIT SHOW

Next Thursday afternoon at 1:30, the local chapter of Bundles for Britain will sponsor a "Clare Tree Major presentation," "Alice in Wonderland." The production will be given in a local theatre with local and county pupils planning on attendance.

Miss Elizabeth Tolbert is in charge of student ticket sales with Mrs. Lemuel Weldon in charge of general admission. The Red and Black staff recognizes the significance of the work done by the local British-aid group and wishes through these columns to urge the attendance not only of school pupils but also of many adults who would be interested in the program.

MEMORIAL HALL
SCENE OF GALA
EVENT OF CLUB

For the past several weeks plans have progressed rapidly for the annual Stooze dance. Joe Staley and his committee have selected an orchestra and have completed all formalities regarding contracts.

Posters which Carl Bach and David Yates made announce the coming of Bill Kessler and his band, featuring Fritz Hummel, formerly with Ted Weems.

Committees appointed by Robert Brown have been functioning steadily and all reports are that things will go off exactly on schedule. Hildeburn Martin is making the decorations, Richard Brintlinger, Robert Goeller, Clark Martin and Jack Beck are helping to put them up.

All tables for this affair were carried and placed by the committee consisting of Harry Clifton, Norman Anderson, David Orr and Joseph Staley.

Elmer Barr is in charge of refreshments. Counters have been erected for this purpose. Clark Martin will take care of the tickets.

Since this is not a public dance, invitations must be issued. This responsibility falls on the shoulders of David Yates, Carl Bach and Richard Brintlinger. After the person has received an invitation, he may either by his ticket (which were distributed to club members by Frank Geib) from a member of the club or buy them at the gates.

Thus far there is no accurate estimate as to the number of people who will attend, however, the club has planned on approximately 150 couples.

All members of the student body and faculty are invited to attend.

G. R. ARRANGES
BIRTHDAY PARTY

Senior Girl Reserves made plans at their meeting Thursday for a birthday party in honor of the sixtieth anniversary of Y. W. C. A. The Girl Reserve are a branch of the organization.

April 20-26 is National Girl Reserve week and the party will be in the social room some evening during this time. A number of out-of-town guests will attend this affair.

Committees appointed for this affair are refreshment: Rosemary Huffer (chairman), Miriam Brown and Marelyn Campbell. Program: Jean Imler (chairman), Dorothy Ann Dreisbach and Mary Catherine Stein. Decorations: Mary Kathryn Pile (chairman), Marcella Cunningham and Marvina Henness.

In the absence of Doris Waters, Margaret Boggs presented the program "What The Girl Reserve Means To Me." Several weeks ago club members wrote a paragraph on this topic and the best of these were read before the club.

CLUB WILL PUBLISH
NEW SCANDAL SHEET

During a short E.M.S. meeting, Wednesday evening, plans for the publication of the '41 Scandal Sheet were discussed. This piece of work will make its appearance to the high school within the next few weeks.

Editorials were due at this meeting from certain members of the organization, and are to be given to Mary Ruth Owens.

HOTT REPLACES GRABILL

Ann Hott succeeds Wanda Grabill as editor of the Red and Black. Glenn Barnhart will remain exchange editor for this last six weeks. At the end of the next six weeks the Red and Black will discontinue publication until school reopens in September.

SAMUEL J. STEVENS DIES AT HOME OF DAUGHTER
Samuel J. Stevens, 85, a native of Jackson County but a resident of Pickaway County for many years, died Saturday at 4 a. m. at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Annie Hollis, Williamsport.

Mr. Stevens was a son of Amos and Susanna Hutchinson Stevens. His wife, Isabelle Tharp Stevens, died 13 years ago.

Survivors include Mrs. Mollie Hoffman, Laurelville; William, Circleville; Mrs. Hollis at whose home he died; Mrs. Julia Fell, Columbus; Mrs. Loretta Brockhove, Columbus; Mrs. Flossie Gray, Circleville, and Frank, Amanda.

The funeral will be Monday at 2 p. m. at the Williamsport Pilgrim Holiness Church, the Rev. James O. Miller officiating. Burial will be in Reber Hill Cemetery by C. E. Hill, Williamsport.

Kiwanians are planning a big meeting Monday evening when Don H. Ebright, state treasurer, speaks as the guest of J. Harold Limback. Ebright is expected to discuss state problems.

Another feature of the program will be that the annual smelt dinner will be served. Each year the club imports smelt from Escanaba, Mich., the Kiwanis Club there cooperating in the project.

The club meets at 6:30 p. m. in Hanley's tearoom.

AT LEASURE FUNERAL
Mrs. Martha Nulf and Ralph Long of East Franklin Street attended the funeral of Frederick Leasure, Friday, in Columbus. The burial was in Greenlawn cemetery, with the Rev. Boyd Rife of the Washington Avenue United Brethren Church officiating. Mrs. Leasure is the former Mary Rider, daughter of the late Alfred Rider of Circleville.

Howard Gregg, assistant superintendent of route marking, State Highway Department, told sheriff's officers Friday that someone had been taking glass reflectors from the bridge on Route 22 just west of the city. Reflectors also have been taken from road signs at the Route 180 near Laurelville, Gregg said.

Penalties for defacing or removing road signs or parts of signs include a fine of not more than $500, or imprisonment for not more than thirty days, or both, sheriff's officers warned.

KIWANIS CLUB TO HEAR TREASURER, EAT SMELT
Kiwanians are planning a big meeting Monday evening when Don H. Ebright, state treasurer, speaks as the guest of J. Harold Limback. Ebright is expected to discuss state problems.

Another feature of the program will be that the annual smelt dinner will be served. Each year the club imports smelt from Escanaba, Mich., the Kiwanis Club there cooperating in the project.

The club meets at 6:30 p. m. in Hanley's tearoom.

AT LEASURE FUNERAL
Mrs. Martha Nulf and Ralph Long of East Franklin Street attended the funeral of Frederick Leasure, Friday, in Columbus. The burial was in Greenlawn cemetery, with the Rev. SENIOR VICTOR IN PICKAWAY'S ANNUAL EVENT

Subject "Born Rich" Best Handled, Judge From Capital U. Says

ANOTHER GIRL SECOND

11 Choices By Various Schools Compete At Atlanta

Joan Griffith, seventeen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Griffith, and a senior in New Holland High School, was proclaimed winner of the Pickaway County Oratorical Contest, held Friday evening in the Atlanta high school auditorium.

Miss Griffith's subject was "Born Rich," the theme of her oration dealing with the blessings of American democracy, and the benefits derived from its free institutions.

Second place in the contest went to Virginia Buskirk, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Buskirk, Deer Creek Township, and a sophomore at Williamsport, and third place to Eleanor Bumgarner, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bumgarner, Jackson Township. Subject of Miss Buskirk's oration was "War, Do You Want It?" and of Miss Bumgarner's "Dancing Daughters."

Eight other county students gave orations at the contest. They were Harold Furniss, Monroe Township; Mary Branson, Darby Township; Sara Jane Rector, Salt Creek Township; Mary Clark, Walnut Township; Norma Jean Penn, Pickaway Township; Ralph Mahaffey, Ashville; Vance Brewer, Washington Township; and Anna Pearl Philo, Scioto Township.

Judge of the contest was Professor Drushal of Capital University. Orations were judged on the basis of content and delivery.

The Rev. V. C. Stump, pastor of the New Holland Methodist Church, opened the program at 8 o'clock with the invocation. Music was furnished by the Williamsport high school band, and pupils from Williamsport, Atlanta, Walnut and Monroe Township schools.

HINTON FUNERAL RITES TO BE SUNDAY AT 2:30

Funeral services for Lawrence Lowell Hinton, 28, of near Laurelville, who died in Berger Hospital Thursday night of self-inflicted bullet wounds, will be held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in the Laurelville Methodist Church, the Rev. H. C. Elliott, Rockbridge, officiating, with burial in Green Summit cemetery at Adelphi. Friends may call at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Karshner, south of Laurelville, on Route 56.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Bernadine Karshner Hinton; a daughter, Marilyn Jean; three sisters, Mrs. Marie Dearth, of near Hopetown, Mrs. Margaret Ballard, Tarlton and Mrs. Fern Ealy, Columbus; and two brothers, Cecil, Cincinnati and Charles Jr., at home.

MEETING PLACE ARGUED BY COAL STRIFE CHIEFS

NEW YORK, April 19—Possibility that President Roosevelt may be forced to intervene in the soft coal deadlock loomed today.

An impasse has developed between John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, (CIO), and the Southern coal operators over the question of whether they should meet in New York or Washington to resume wage negotiations broken off eight days ago when the southern mine owners booted the joint Appalachian conference.

Lewis says, "let's meet in New York"; the southern mine owners say, "let's meet in Washington."

That was the way the situation stood this morning.

Purchases $21,000 Farm With Dozen Ears of Corn

By William A. Rutledge III

HANNA CITY, Ill., April 19—

A backwoods tenant farmer traded a half dozen ears of corn for a $21,000 farm. Of course, they were not ordinary ears of corn but baldish good-natured Eddie Doubet turned over to Lester Pfister, prominent seed merchant of nearby El Paso.

The corn represented the culmination of 21 years of breeding, an inbred strain which has proven to have astounding power of resistance to chinch bugs and drought in addition to exceptionally high yield (10 bushels an acre with a one-half inch of rain) and rugged stalks. Doubet and his wife, Mildred, now comfortably installed on their splendid farm, can look upon their ownership as the equivalent of exactly $1,000 per year for their persistent efforts in producing a superior strain of corn.

Ever since Eddie began farming as a boy of 18, his neighbors had regarded him as "slightly touched in the head." The most conspicuous evidence, they believed, were the paper bags he placed over the tassels to catch the pollen. Last year he used 50,000 such bags. These bags were transparent and placed over young silks to enable him to get the male and female units for breeding purposes.

Cultivated 180 Acres

Now, for miles around, Eddie is regarded as a farmer whose discoveries may be of profound significance to agriculture. But no one is prouder of him than his wife, who has worked side by side with him in cultivating his 180 acres and conducting his experiments, which took as much as $5,000 in one year from their income.

"The drought years of 1934 and 1936 put us on the map," Doubet said. While farmers throughout the country were suffering terrific losses from lack of moisture and the attendant ravages of the chinch bug, his corn showed no ill effects.

Doubet was skeptical of the probability that he had developed a remarkable strain of corn. To thoroughly convince himself, he raised a huge crop of chinch bugs in his cornfield with raspberry brambles and soy bean straw. He watched the bugs hatch and swarm over samples of 40 strains. The corn showed no damage and the bugs left the stalks.

The rugged stalks of the Doubet strains repeatedly had proven themselves during high winds and storms. While their neighbors' corn fields were levelled, his corn stood up. Stalks from his silo have supported the entire weight of children in demonstrations of their toughness.

In 1929 an ear of his corn won first place at the old Peoria Fair and Implement show. The judge who awarded his ear first prize, Prof. J. C. Hackleman of the University of Chicago, took a great interest in his breeding activities and co-operated with him.

Inbred From One Ear

This prize-winning ear was the foundation of the present strain. The kernels from this ear were carefully planted in short rows and the in-breeding of only the strongest and best appearing stalks has been going on for 10 years. From this ear 12 select inbreds have been developed.

Last spring Doubet sold 40 bushels of seed corn for $4,000 and added another $1,000 to finance the most extensive program of experimentation he has ever been able to undertake.

His daughter does most of the housework because Mrs. Doubet prefers to work in the fields with her husband. She has become an expert in "bagging" the pollen and can coax the tractor into doing most anything she wants done.

Pfister, a leading seed merchant, came to Doubet and asked him what he would have to pay for exclusive rights to his new strain of corn.

Without batting an eyelash, Eddie replied, "It'll cost you a mighty good farm."

"It's a deal!" Pfister affirmed. Eddie and wife picked out the farm they wanted. It cost Pfister $21,000 in cold cash.
